THE GRAND KNIGHT

Brother Knights,

Another Christmas season is past us and we welcome a new year and a new decade. May this year bring us closer to our Faith, to continue our charity works, to make our council stronger thru unity with our brother Knights. What a better way to know your brother knights by attending our business meetings, join us on our charity work, our sponsored activities in our parish. Thank you to all who help in the Warm Clothing Drive both during the collection and distribution. This will keep our homeless warm and dry during this cold season.

The Lenten season is approaching fast. We will be again serving Fish during the Friday's of Lent. Your council will need you help serving our parish and community with these Fish Fry Dinner's. We also need your help in selling raffle tickets for a one-week vacation to The Grandview at Las Vegas. Brother Knights, you will be receiving books of raffle tickets to sell. Please try to sell all of them as this is our major fund raiser to help us in all our charities.

Please complete your Diocese Safe Environment Training, on the Knights of Columbus Safe Environment Training and Live Scan thru our parish. This new requirement is for the safety of our youth and protect our parish. Please call me if you have any questions.

In a few months our nomination committee will be selecting new officers for the next Fraternal Year 2020-2021. If you need to know more about the position, talk to me, consider being a leader and a mover to our fraternal organization. Accept the challenge,

Be informed on what is going on with the Knights of Columbus. Create a login account at the supreme web site. The following are websites for the knights.

COUNCIL CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

The Greatest Of These

In John 13:33-35 Jesus told His disciples “My children, I will be with you only a little longer. You will look for me and just as I told the Jews, so I tell you now. Where I am going you cannot come. A new commandment I give you: Love one another. As I have loved you, so you must love one another, by this all men will know you are my disciples, if you show love for one another.”

When Jesus told his followers to go and make disciples of all nations, He followed that with instruction on how to do it. Matthew 22: 37-39 the first and great commandment-to Love God with all your heart, soul and mind. Love your neighbor as yourself.

We are called to share Christ and to do it with compassion, respect and Love. There are so many people out there who have needs. Needs that can use maybe a note of encouragement, a visit a meal, a prayer or maybe a friendly smile. The measure of our love for God is how much we show love to His children.

1 Corinthians 13:13 And these three remain: “Faith Hope and Love. But the Greatest of These is Love.”

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR.....

Deputy Grand Knight & program Director

Dear Brothers:

As we move quickly into February, we are reminded of those we love with Valentine's Day and we start into the season of Lent with prayer, fasting and almsgiving (and fish fry's)! We have a very full month of activities in February and even more planned events in March, such as the Intellectual Disability (ID) Drive on March 7&8 and our presentation of the movie "Unplanned" on March 28th. We could really use your support at these many events that benefit the council and the parish. Let's make a strong commitment this Lent to serve our parish and community. Please consider attending and helping out on the following events. Also, save the dates, mentioned above, for our great events in March.

Please contact me or the Grand Knight if you have social, spiritual or fundraising activities that you would like to suggest:

FINANCIAL SECRETARY

Dear Brother Knights,

The drawing for early dues payment at the January meeting went to #25, brother Bob Marsh. Perhaps it's a coincidence, but Bob was the first to pay his 2020 dues. Congratulations Bob. Carlos Ramirez name, #68, was drawn for Good of the Order, but unfortunately, he wasn't present to collect $20.00.

Thank you to the 95 (includes 35 Honorary Life Members) brothers who have paid their annual dues to date. That leaves 122 delinquent. Please make every effort to have them in soon. If your payments have not been received by March 1, 2020, you won't be able to participate in any Knights of Columbus functions, including Ladies Night. If you are having difficulty paying your dues, please contact me or Rolly Arenz, GK. Our phone numbers and email addresses are listed on page 2 of this bulletin.

In concurrence with the precept of Charity from our 1st Degree, almost all our Council brothers have donated to our Council fund to assist paying dues for Brothers who are having financial difficulty. $300 has already been collected with dues paid to date. We want to assist brothers in need to remain in good standing, so if you are in financial difficulty, please reach out. Raffle Tickets will be in the mail soon, for 7 Nights at the GRANDVIEW at LAS VEGAS, June 20 – June 27, 2020. This beautiful 2-bedroom condominium will sleep 8. Ticket prices are only $5.00, or a book of 6 for $25.00. You can check out the flier on our Council Website opening page kofc8599.org Please buy or sell at least 2 books so our Council will have the funds required for all our charitable work.

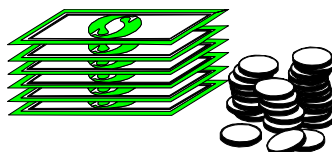

Thank you, also, to those of you who returned your Fraternal Survey Forms, as the information contained in them is very important for Supreme to maintain our designation as an IRS recognized charity. This year's form has changed significantly due to the Faith in Action programs, which include activities specific to Faith, Family, Community, and Life. I hope to see all of you at our Business Meeting on February 19th, Ladies Night at Cerritos Performing Arts Center on the 23rd (Call brother George Del Hierro for reservations) and at our fish fries beginning on February 28th.

Our "Good of the Order" drawing is up to $30 in February, and you must be present to win.

Interview with Female Abortionist

In an interview Christine an abortionist defended being a mother who aborts other women's unborn babies in her heart-wrenching column from the New York Times. The California abortionist tried to justify her life-destroying work with her new motherhood, but she also was honest about the gruesome reality of what she does. Three times in her column, she mentioned how she struggles with doing second-trimester abortions because the babies' dead bodies remind her of her young daughter.

She began: Recently a colleague asked me if I'd had trouble working while I was pregnant. "Actually I was fine," I said. "I know a lot of people have a hard time, but it wasn't an issue for me." The colleague raised her eyebrows. "Wow. Good for you. I was a mess." We weren't just talking about nausea and swollen feet and low back pain. She and I are abortion doctors. We routinely perform procedures well into our patients' second trimester, when the fetus is well-formed and easily recognizable as humanlike, even "life"-like. Baby-like.

Later, she admitted that was not exactly true. She was a mess. She described being worried about infertility and later miscarriage after she did become pregnant with her daughter. "I'm worried about, you know, the reason," she told her husband after three months of not getting pregnant. "Like some kind of bad karma: the abortion doctor who can't get pregnant." A few weeks later, however, she did. When she saw her unborn baby's heartbeat flicker on the ultrasound for the first time, "then the fear really began."

Her next admission was particularly disturbing: There was one time when I almost fell apart: I was in my second trimester, performing a 17-week procedure on a patient. The fetus, which is normally extracted in parts, came through the cervix intact. I dropped it in the metal dish and I saw it move, or thought I did. It was all I could do not to run from the procedure room crying. That was the only time she said. But that is not quite true either. She said it still is not easy for her to look at a "fetus in the dish, the perfect curl of its fingers and toes. Sometimes it reminds me of my daughter — how could it not?"

"How do I continue to do this work?" She asked, but her answer did not make any sense. She said she sees "a connection" between aborting unborn babies and her work as a mother. "It's not a tension or a contradiction to be reconciled. It's a symbiosis, a harmony," she wrote.

She concluded: As a doctor, I can draw a distinction, a boundary, between a fetus and a baby. When I became a mother, I learned that there are no boundaries, really. The moment you become a mother, the moment another heartbeat flickers inside of you, all boundaries fall away. Nevertheless, as mothers, we must all make choices. And we must live with the choices that aren't ours to make.

Christine's column reads like a person who is fighting to deny a horrifying reality that she does not want to be true. It appears to be her wrestling to justify her work, to deny that what she is doing is horrific. She is making a living killing other women's children – babies who already have fingers and toes and heartbeats, babies who hiccup and suck their thumbs, unique, living human beings at their most vulnerable moment of life.

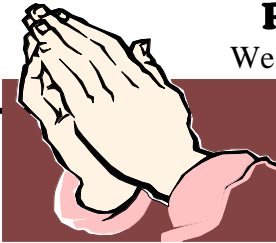

She is right that some choices are not ours to make. Some choices are wrong, and abortion killing an unborn baby – is one of them. Perhaps someday she will finally realize the truth, as other abortionists have, and quit. Hope and healing is available to people who want to leave the abortion industry. Abby Johnson's ministry And Then There Were None has helped hundreds of abortion workers quit their jobs, find employment and heal from the horrors of abortion.

How do we think about the suffering in our lives?

The other day at Mass, the Gospel (Mark 8: 27-33) recounted the conversation among Jesus and his disciples about what they were hearing from the people about the identity of Jesus. Apparently, there was quite a bit of speculation going on about Jesus as some thought he was a returned John the Baptist while others thought he was Elijah or Jeremiah or one of the other prophets. Not a bad group to be identified with. But when Jesus made the question more personal, Peter spoke up and he got it just right. Peter responded, “You are the Christ!” Jesus praises Peter for his insight and willingness to say it out loud!

Then Jesus does something a bit strange. As soon as Peter applied the title “Christ” to him, Jesus begins to teach that he must suffer, be rejected, be killed and rise after three days. Clearly, these kinds of experiences didn’t fit with being the “Christ” in Peter’s mind. He pulled Jesus aside and scolded him for talking of such things. Jesus reacts almost violently. “Get behind me Satan! You are thinking not as God does, but as human beings do!”

Let’s face it, most of us tend to think as “human beings” do! Just recall St. Paul’s comment in First Corinthians that the sufferings of Jesus are a “a stumbling block to Jews and foolishness to Gentiles...” (I Cor 1:23). Few of us factor “suffering” into our understanding of a rich and satisfying life, especially if that life is our own or that of someone we love. This encounter between Peter and Jesus seems to be inviting us to take a different look at the way we think about suffering in our lives. If suffering is essential to the life of Jesus, is it just possible that suffering is essential to our lives as well? If suffering is essential to our lives and not just the result of mindless circumstance or accident, perhaps we should look to the suffering in our lives to teach us important truths about our world, ourselves and, of course, God.

Would seeing suffering as an essential experience for us change the way we experience it? Does Peter understand why Jesus is upset with him?

Do I?

Love & Prayers,
